INQUESTS AND INQUIRIES

Anna is widely recognised for her significant inquest and inquiries practice. Anna counsel represented 14 families who lost loved ones in the Hillsborough Stadium disaster and was heavily involved in the section of the Inquest that examined the actions of South Yorkshire Police in the aftermath of the disaster.

Anna's practice specialises in complex inquests that engage Article 2 ECHR. she is a natural jury advocate with extensive experience developed within the criminal and civil courts. Anna frequently represents families in prison and police related deaths and deaths involving restraint. She has particular expertise in inquests that involve those suffering complex mental health issues, both in state detention, detention under the Mental Health Act 1983 and in the community.

Anna has a particular interest in post-homicide Article 2 inquests. She currently represents a number of families of the victims of murder and has successfully argued in those cases that inquests should be resumed following a criminal prosecution where the perpetrator was known to state agencies in order that the inquest can investigate any failings of those agencies that contributed to the death.

Anna also provides specialist advice to families before and after the inquest process in respect of civil claims in damages. She is also experienced in Judicial Review proceedings arising from the inquest process.

Anna has been appointed as an Assistant Coroner for Greater Manchester (South).
