MENTAL HEALTH LAW

Roger Pezzani practices exclusively in mental health law. He represents and advises patients at all levels, from hospital managers hearings to the Supreme Court. He is equally content at a local hospital managers hearing and the appellate courts and tribunals.

Roger is happy to talk cases through at an early stage. He thinks that every case is more likely to succeed if it is well-planned from the start. He doesn't especially mind if he gets paid for these planning discussions, or even whether they result in formal instruction. The client and the case are what matter. He therefore welcomes informal calls from lawyers who wish to discuss their cases.
