She co-convenes the Anti Trafficking Legal Project.

NOTABLE CASES

NOTABLE CASES

The Queen on the Application of O and H v The Secretary of State for the Home Department* [2019] EWHC 148 (Admin)

A test case on the delays by the Secretary of the Home Department in the process of making "Conclusive Grounds" decisions in respect of potential victims of human trafficking had become so significant and so widespread as to be unlawful.

The Queen on the Application of MN v The Secretary of State for the Home Department* [2018] EWHC 3268 (QB)

Gemma was instructed by the intervener: The AIRE Centre. The case raises issues of general public importance with wide-ranging implications for the identification and protection of victims of human trafficking. It was submitted that the Defendant's policy, which is to apply a standard of proof of balance of probabilities in its procedure for the identification of victims of human trafficking, is unlawful.

YOUTH JUSTICE & CHILD RIGHTS

Gemma has extensive experience of representing children and young people in a wide range of public law, immigration and trafficking matters. She has particular experience of working with unaccompanied asylum seeking children and child victims of trafficking and is frequently instructed in challenges against deportation, where the offences were committed, whilst the child was in a trafficking situation.

BACKGROUND

Prior to coming to the Bar, Gemma worked as a senior asylum appeals caseworker for Refugee and Migrant Justice (formerly the Refugee Legal Centre).

PUBLICATIONS

Gemma is a contributing author to Macdonald's Immigration Law and Practice (LexisNexis), the UK's leading practitioner textbook in immigration law and is currently updating the trafficking chapter for the forthcoming addition. Gemma is also a contributing author to Human Trafficking and Modern Slavery, Law and Practice (Bloomsbury).

Somalia: Indiscriminate Risk, Journal of Immigration Asylum and Nationality Law, Gemma Loughran and Harriet Short, 2012, 26(2), 175-189.

TRAINING AND SEMINARS

Gemma regularly delivers Continuing Professional Development (CPD)-accredited seminars covering different areas of immigration practice to keep solicitors up to date with all areas of applicable legislation and case law.

In 2014, Gemma lectured on the 'Refugees and Human Rights' LLM module at London Metropolitan University.
