

Alex Schymyck

YEAR OF CALL: 2020

Alex is a public law and civil liberties barrister. He accepts instructions in Administrative and Public Law, Immigration, Community Care, Mental Health and Actions Against the Police.

Alex acts in judicial review and civil claims challenging immigration detention, mental health detention and police detention. Alex is committed to protecting the rights of vulnerable detainees and was instructed on the Brook House Inquiry.

Alex is also frequently instructed in urgent judicial review proceedings challenging community care decisions and immigration decisions. Alongside his judicial review work, Alex appears in immigration appeals in the First Tier Tribunal and Upper Tribunal.

Prior to coming to the Bar, Alex taught Public Law at LSE. Alex has been published in Public Law, Journal of Immigration and Asylum Law and the UK Constitutional Law Association blog. Alex also writes regular updates for Free Movement, the leading immigration law website.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND PUBLIC LAW

Alex has broad experience in public law from preparing judicial review claims as a caseworker to teaching administrative law at LSE and assisting judges while working at the Court of Appeal. Alex brings this experience to his work representing claimants in judicial review claims across his practice areas. He has been instructed in judicial review claims at all levels and is equally adept at preparing policy challenges and at seeking urgent interim relief.

NOTABLE CASES

R (HZ and Others) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2023] EWHC 660 (Admin)

Alex was instructed by Shelter on this challenge to the policy regarding Bridging Hotel accommodation provided to Afghan refugees (led by Martin Westgate KC).

R (Ganpot) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2023] EWHC 197 (Admin)

Alex appeared unled for three claimants and successfully obtained a mandatory order requiring the SSHD to accommodate them at a contested interim relief hearing.

IMMIGRATION DETENTION, ASYLUM AND DEPORTATION

Alex has long-term experience in this field and draws upon his early experience as a caseworker representing detained clients when appearing in immigration appeals and unlawful detention judicial review claims. Alongside his practice, Alex has written for Free Movement for many years and has a deep knowledge of immigration law.

NOTABLE CASES

Brook House Inquiry

Alex is instructed on behalf of several core participants in the Brook House Inquiry concerning the mistreatment and abuse of vulnerable detainees at Brook House IRC following a Panorama investigation in 2016 (led by Stephanie Harrison KC).
